

THE TIPPING POINT

Building the skills for today and tomorrow

WHO WE ARE

We see that many organisations find themselves on a "tipping point". Rapid and constant change is becoming the new 'norm'. Over the coming years many jobs (and sectors) under pressure from technological innovation and economic competition, will transform or disappear. While, at the same time, new jobs and forms of work will quickly grow. This new world of permanent change demands different emotional and social skills from the people that live and work in it. Employees and managers must be resilient and agile if they want to flourish in a context of permanent change. However, resilience and agility are just two examples of the many skills of today and tomorrow that people (will) need in their working life.

At The Tipping Point we answer two questions for you:

- 1. Which emotional & social skills will gain importance?
- 2. What methods are there for effectively implementing these skills in your organisation?

Thanks to our neuroscientific approach, our passion for learning & development, and our extensive business experience, we have developed a number of tools to prepare organisations and their employees for what awaits us on the other side of the tipping point:

ADVICE

TRAINING

INSPIRATION SESSIONS

EVENTS

Building the skills for today and tomorrow

Interaction with others

Motivated employees that communicate more effectively and collaborate more efficiently.

Resilience

Stress-resistant employees that are able to resiliently cope with the changes of the future.

Leadership

Committed managers that lead their teams to achieve improved performance.

Passion meets science

Passionate about our field and scientifically substantiated, in terms of content as well as form (brain-based learning methodology).

Innovative & digital

Innovative & digital (blended) learning solutions based on the latest trends in our field and expertly compiled in a visually appealing package.

Focus on impact

Specific, hands-on solutions linked to company results and monitored using strict internal quality control.

Solutions End-to-end

Strategic partner that helps organisations set up learning pathways, from the initial request to final assessment.

We go the extra mile

Flexible and fast interventions, supported by a large pool of multilingual professionals.

WHY CHOOSE US

CONTACT US

Persoonshoek 7 bus 3
2800 Mechelen
+32 15 68 26 10
info@thetippingpoint.be

www.thetippingpoint.be

